My Time for Fascination

You'll never find a city as exceptional as Hong Kong. From East to West, classic to contemporary, towering skyscrapers set against vast countryside, upscale Michelin restaurants next door to street-side stalls — there are thousands of diverse thrills to be had here. To get started, check out this guide to the quintessential Hong Kong experience: an overview of the sights, sounds, flavours and attractions that make up the very best the city has to offer.

Climb the Peak
Reach for the highest point on Hong Kong Island by ascending The Peak. It's the one absolute must-visit during your trip, with plenty for you to enjoy from up top. Take an all-encompassing look from a mountaintop perspective — The Peak Tower and The Peak Galleria have impressive observation decks. But that's only the tip of the thrills: don't miss the restaurants filled with international flavours, chic stores packed with local handicrafts, and the Peak Tram, a century-old funicular that climbs up at incredibly steep gradients. Nature lover? Try the leisurely Peak Circle Walk for sweeping vistas as well as secluded pavilions and parks.

Catch the Skyline
Is there anything more iconic of Hong Kong than its stunning skyline? It's the one feature of the city that you can't ignore, with its towering skyscrapers, traditional low-rise buildings and futuristic light displays. Take it in strolling down Kowloon's Tsim Sha Tsui Promenade, get a bird's-eye view from The Peak, or simply admire it cocktail-in-hand at a harbourfront hotel. Whichever you choose, look up at exactly 8pm, when the 'A Symphony of Lights' light show takes over the skyscrapers. Blending classical music with immense illumination, the outdoor show is best enjoyed on board the Star Ferry's Harbour Tour, sailing through the harbour on a traditional ship with an open-air viewing deck.
Eat Local
Eat like a local and dish out on Hong Kong’s many native flavours. Start your morning with dim sum, with options suited to every budget: from affordable all-day restaurants to high-end offerings in ‘tycoon canteens’. For lunch, try a worker-style experience at a dai pai dong (street-side restaurant) or cha chaan teng (Hong Kong-style diner), each serving simple congee, beef brisket and siu mei (roast meat with rice or noodles). Finally for dinner, experience a modern take on classic Cantonese at a contemporary restaurant, or sample island seafood fare at a scenic spot: Lamma Island is noted for ocean-fresh offerings, while Aberdeen is lined with alfresco restaurants.

Ride the Past
Take a trip back through time, by riding an old-fashioned form of transportation. Start your journey on a historic tram: the street cars have been running since 1904. Board at Shau Kei Wan, grab a window seat and soak up sights along the way, including Causeway Bay’s shopping streets, Wan Chai’s retro-architecture and Admiralty’s skyscrapers. Disembark at Central and hop aboard the Star Ferry, which has been carrying passengers across the harbour since 1888. The sea air, spectacular harbour views, wooden seating and rumbling engines combine to create this iconic Hong Kong experience. Finally, head back to Central and jump on the Peak Tram — the funicular railway opened in 1926 and still transports visitors up to The Peak at dizzying angles.
Shop Till You Drop

Make sure you have plenty of extra luggage space, as Hong Kong truly is a perfect retail destination. Kick off your spending spree at a shopping mall: indoor havens featuring everything from high-end ready-to-wear to high-street accessories. If you’re searching for something a little more home-grown, Causeway Bay’s mini-malls feature independent Asian labels. Looking for something truly rare? Antique aficionados will love Cat Street, while retro-electronic addicts can geek out on Apliu Street. During the evening, visit a night market — on Temple Street, you can bargain over Chinese jewellery and other local trinkets. Not far from it, Ladies’ Market is a late-night paradise for fashion steals and souvenirs.
Get Festive
No matter which month you visit, you’re guaranteed a festive time. In town during Chinese New Year? You’ll be astonished at the change the city sees, with bright red lanterns, float-filled parades, massive markets selling auspicious foods and a New Year-themed fireworks display. But there’s plenty more: Arts Month will keep you cultured during March, with international works at Art Basel and local talent showcased during the Hong Kong Arts Festival. April and May events include the vibrant Birthday of Tin Hau and the Cheung Chau Bun Festival, while the annual summertime Dragon Boat Carnival in June features athletic prowess and reveling crowds. End your year on a high note, with Western celebrations Halloween, Christmas and New Year’s.

Have an Adventure
Escape the concrete jungle and get your adrenaline flowing. Whether you have children in tow or are just a kid at heart, two major theme parks will keep everyone entertained. Ocean Park is a home-grown affair: head up to Thrill Mountain for exhilarating rides, and then catch giant pandas, sharks and other animals in the park’s enclosures. The city also has its very own Disneyland, where you can embark on an exciting journey through seven themed lands, filled with beauty, excitement and Disney characters, and revel in the spectacular glow of the Disney Paint The Night parade in the evening. Finally, try a more natural adventure: the Hong Kong Wetland Park is a 60-hectare reserve where you can watch wildlife, while you can explore Hong Kong’s protected countryside on a variety of hikes for all levels.

Take On Traditions
Embrace Hong Kong’s fascinating heritage and culture. Pay your respects at the city’s most historic temples: come bearing requests at the immense Sik Sik Yuen Wong Tai Sin Temple, which promises to ‘make every wish come true’, and light incense at Sheung Wan’s striking Man Mo Temple. Visit a Qing dynasty (1644–1911) Mandarin’s mansion, learn how to appreciate Chinese tea and discover which parts of the city are high in feng shui energy. Finally, keep yourself educated with a museum hop: both the Museum of History and the Hong Kong Heritage Museum send you on century-charting journeys.
Island Hop
Get out of the city and visit one of the many outlying islands. Make Lantau Island your first stop. Here, the celebrated Tian Tan ‘Big Buddha’ statue sits atop its peak, easily accessible via the Ngong Ping 360 cable car. But there’s plenty more, including the traditional Tai O fishing village and its Heritage Hotel, quiet white-sand beaches and alfresco restaurants in Discovery Bay. Looking for something even more serene? Visit the vehicle-free islands of Lamma and Cheung Chau — hire bicycles and zip around traditional villages, old-time shops, rustic temples and inviting beaches, before finishing your day with a delicious alfresco seafood meal.

Be a Good Sport
Experience sporting thrills through unique spectator events. Horse racing is the city’s pastime — experience the buzzing atmosphere, massive cheers, and huge rewards at the city’s two racecourses. Join the crowds every Wednesday evening at Happy Valley, or take a weekend gamble on Sha Tin’s daytime affair. Catch local-themed thrills during the summertime Dragon Boat Races, where rowers race mythically shaped vessels. In April, the Rugby Sevens sees international teams and thousands of fans descend upon the city for an electrifying weekend. Tickets are hard to come by, but you can savour the energy at the Sevens Village opposite the stadium and the carnival at Chater Garden in Central.

Dining

My Time for Indulgence

Breakfast on Michelin-starred dim sum; grab a tasty on-the-go taco for lunch; and have a celebrity chef prepare seafood ceviche for your dinner — just one possible day for your taste buds in Hong Kong. As one of the world’s culinary capitals, the city’s dining culture is an immense, irresistible medley of varying cuisines, memorable venues and prices to suit all budgets. As a result, Hong Kong attracts everyone from travelling foodies to the world’s best chefs, and some of your best memories will be of the city’s flavours.

More on dining at DiscoverHongKong.com, Openrice.com and in the Michelin Guide!

Star-studded Dishes

Indulge in star-studded gastronomy with the Hong Kong Michelin Guide. Get the most out of the city through expert advice from the world’s finest diners. This year’s guide awarded three stars to everything from jet-fresh sushi and classic French, to modern Italian and ‘X-treme’ Chinese. On a budget? Affordable Michelin indulgence is guaranteed through such inexpensive options as lunchboxes and dim sum.
China Calling
As the gateway to China, Hong Kong is an ideal place to explore the country's many flavours. Risk the fiery spices of Sichuan, sit down to a banquet of capital Beijing tastes, or try out bargain-priced Chiu Chow flavours. Or keep things local with home-grown Cantonese cuisine: everything from old-fashioned dim sum and stylish, modern offerings to affordable roast meat restaurants.

Native Flavours
Take a cue from the locals and dine at a cheap-and-cheerful everyday restaurant. Dai pai dongs are street-side outdoor stalls, while cha chaan tengs are a local type of diner. Order a Hong Kong favourite, including congee, wonton noodles or roast meat with rice. Pair it all with milk tea or yuenyeung (coffee-tea mix), and end things with a delicious pineapple bun.
Culinary Affairs

Feast on world-class food and drink through our annual culinary events. If you’re fortunate enough to be here during summer, the Best of the Best Culinary Awards showcases the city’s finest Chinese cuisine, while the Food Expo attracts gastronomic connoisseurs and the Lan Kwai Fong Beer & Music Fest caters to those who enjoy a good tipple. Visiting in autumn? The outdoor Wine & Dine Festival sees global winemakers descend upon the city. Finally, warm up with European flavours during winter at the German Bierfest.

Gastro Glamour

Take in stunning sights and chic atmospheres, along with wonderful cuisine, at some of the city’s most distinctive restaurants. Experience vertigo-inducing thrills in skyscraper bars and restaurants. Or soak up striking views from either side of the harbour. There are also plenty of establishments that draw on the city’s mixed heritage to offer stylish surroundings for a retro-glamorous rendezvous.
Champion Chefs
Go gastro-namedropping in Hong Kong. The world’s greatest culinary names have been inspired by the city’s distinctive cultural mix, and diners can personally enjoy each chef’s distinctive skills. Haute cuisine is offered by such notables as Alain Ducasse, Pierre Gagnaire, Richard Ekkebus, Jason Atherton and Hong Kong’s very own ‘Demon Chef’ Alvin Leung. Meanwhile, TV favourites Gordon Ramsay and Jamie Oliver recently opened Hong Kong outposts.

Old-Fashioned Fare
Experience a true blast from the past with a restaurant steeped in history. Travel back in time in one of the many British-style restaurants that have been holding fort since the colonial period, or taste period Cantonese dishes at a long-running Chinese restaurant. Age-old favourites can be found all around town — some have even evolved from humble street stalls into internationally renowned brands.

Seasonal Dishes
There’s always a seasonal dish to be sampled in Hong Kong, from asparagus in the spring through to hearty hot pots and snake soups during the winter. Autumn is the true highlight though, when it’s hairy crab season.

Dim Sum Culture
Dim sum is Hong Kong’s breakfast staple and if you’re lacking the lingo, try out these phrases: har gow (shrimp dumplings), siu mai (pork and shrimp dumplings), char siu bao (barbecue pork bun) and cheung fun (rice rolls).
Shopping

My Time for Rewards

Hong Kong is the ultimate shopping destination. Whether you're looking for high-end couture or locally made crafts, unique electronics or street-sold souvenirs, the city has it all. Visit massive malls where all your needs can be catered for, get fitted for a perfectly measured suit at a fine tailor, and roam night markets for true bargains. Your shopping options are endless and the things you bring back home will be as treasured as the experience of buying them. Here are some highlights of the city's many shopping options.

Check out "What's Hot" at DiscoverHongKong.com and get the Hong Kong Insider's Guide tablet app for shopping recommendations!

Under One Roof

Beat the heat and experience a variety of shopping mall thrills. Start your day at ifc mall and Times Square, two of the city's most popular, and then head across the harbour for shopping bag adventures at Kowloon's Elements and the immense Harbour City. Top it all off with something upscale: the Landmark features high-end stores, while 1881 Heritage is a colonial-era police headquarters converted into an outdoor shopping mall.

Bargain Brands

Find true bargains at outlet stores. Journey to Tung Chung, where the Citygate Outlets mall offers incredible savings. Get lost in its blend of high-end names at bargain-basement prices, with over 80 international brands constantly offering up to 70 per cent in savings. On Hong Kong Island, Horizon Plaza has warehouses of top-end fashion retailers, along with quality furniture and dining outlets.
High Society
Go on a spending spree and shop in the world’s most prestigious designer stores. Start on Tsim Sha Tsui’s Canton Road, the city’s hottest spot for pure style, where crowds form around the block to enter vaulted stores. Looking for a more relaxed but equally swank affair? Visit Hysan Avenue on Hong Kong Island, absolutely brimming with the world’s most elegant brands.

Street Style
Visit dozens of dedicated shopping streets, each focused on specific products. Load up on antiques at Cat Street and grab old-fashioned toys from Tai Yuen Street. Retro-electronic fans will love Apliu Street, shoe addicts won’t be able to resist ‘Sneaker Street’ and jewellery fans will find trinkets on ‘Jade Street’. And while you won’t take them home, the neighbouring ‘Bird Garden’, ‘Flower Market’ and ‘Goldfish Market’ are wonders to behold.
Stock Markets
Shop in the open-air at Hong Kong’s many outdoor markets. Start at Central’s Li Yuen Street lanes or Causeway Bay’s Jardine’s Crescent, each packed with everything from colourful lingerie to affordable accessories. Spend a day at Stanley Market, where you can find all sizes in clothes as well as chinoiserie gifts. Finish at the night bazaars: you’ll find every Hong Kong keepsake at Temple Street and Ladies’ Market, from colonial antiques to souvenir t-shirts. And take the Kowloon Markets Walk tour (see DiscoverHongKong.com), which leads you through the city’s best.

Tailor Made
Get yourself measured and look like a million dollars with a bespoke suit. Hong Kong’s esteemed history of suit-making is more than alive at the many tailors around the city, and you’ll find the biggest selection in Tsim Sha Tsui. Pressed for time? Many will put together a men’s or women’s two-piece in under 24 hours, while others cater to budget buyers through suit packages. Or visit a hotel tailor for true refinement.

Local Flair
Bring home unique Hong Kong fashion from local designers. Get lost in the bustle of Causeway Bay and explore tightly packed stores at the local-centric Island Beverly Mall. Hipster at heart? Head to up-and-coming Tai Ping Shan Street in Sheung Wan, where neighbouring lanes display European looks. If your tastes run bolder, journey out to Mong Kok, an epicentre of the latest Asian crazes.
Piece of the Past

Bring home a piece of Hong Kong’s past. Wander dusty stores and marvel at century-old antiques on Sheung Wan’s Hollywood Road. For something more affordable but no less Hong Kong, try arts and crafts. Roam the shops at Edwardian-era building Western Market, while age-old department stores are stocked with all kinds of chinaware, jewellery and other Oriental items.

Gadget Gear

Stock up on electronics and bring home unique gadgets. Both the Wan Chai Computer Centre and Sham Shui Po’s Golden Computer Arcade are packed wall-to-wall with inexpensive laptops, smartphones and other quirky gadgets. Shutterbug? Visit Central’s Stanley Street or Mong Kok’s Sai Yeung Choi Street, each go-to spots for professionals looking for classic film or modern digital shooters.

Great Outdoors

My Time for Rejuvenation

While many know Hong Kong as an urban destination, it is also home to large expanses of countryside as well as wilderness. Uniquely, these natural spaces are often in very close proximity to the bustling city, making for striking contrasts as well as convenient excursions. Take some time to discover Hong Kong’s wild side: hike across hills to the beach and surf the waves of the surrounding seas. Cycle around farflung parts of the city’s edges and stop at a nature park to observe wildlife.

Get practical insights in the Great Outdoors section of DiscoverHongKong.com and the Hong Kong Insider’s Guide tablet app.

Island Escapes

Escape the city and explore Hong Kong’s fascinating outlying islands. First stop: Lantau Island, featuring everything from Hong Kong Disneyland to historic sites. Next, spend your weekend on Cheung Chau, where you’ll wander the busy main street, relax on a quiet beach and spend the evening eating traditional seafood. Or visit serene Lamma Island, a charming, laid-back island with a multicultural population of local fisher-folk and urban escapees.

Small Wonders

Dozens of smaller islands are waiting to be explored. Marvel at a reimagining of Noah’s Ark Hong Kong on Ma Wan, or discover abandoned industrial sites on Peng Chau. Visit the local fishermen of Po Toi Island or walk the grassy hills of Tap Mun.
By the Seaside
Rest your city-sore feet by spending the day on a beach. Hong Kong Island and its neighbouring islets are outlined with sandy shores. Start off at Repulse Bay, a popular choice among locals. Or grab a taxi to Shok O or Big Wave Bay, both secluded escapes worshipped by surfers. Finally, explore an outlying island beach, from Lamma Island’s tucked-away shores to Cheung Chau’s rocky coasts and Lantau Island’s white sands.

Nature Walk
Head for the hills and seek out hikes to Hong Kong’s most beautiful sights. Start slow at the Dragon’s Back, where you’ll see such scenic spots as Stanley, Shek O and Tai Tam along the way. More challenging? Wake up early and hike up the Lantau Peak, where you’ll catch a stunning sunrise. Or check out the guided hikes on DiscoverHongKong.com — there’s everything from short treks near the city to more remote excursions to islands.
Pedal Power
Get your legs moving and cycle around Hong Kong's outskirts. Start pedaling in Sha Tin along the Tolo Harbour, with rivers, parks and temples open to exploration. Nature lovers will adore Cheung Chau and Mui Wo, each lined with beach-side views and old-time villages. And for the full experience, try the Hong Kong Biking Tour (see DiscoverHongKong.com), journeying across Deep Water Bay, the Wetland Park and a walled village.

Get Wet
Take to the seas for an exhilarating aquatic adventure. Hong Kong's surrounding seas offer countless pleasures and you only have to visit a coastal part of the city for a dedicated water sports centre. Windsurf the bays of Cheung Chau, kayak along the coast in Tai Po, surf the wild waves of Sai Kung, or dive the rocky edges of Sharp Island.

The Wild Side
Observe wildlife at Hong Kong's nature parks. Start at Hong Kong Wetland Park, where you'll encounter birds and reptiles. In town during spring or autumn? Watch migratory birds swarm for shelter at the Mai Po Nature Reserve. Avid snorkellers will love Hoi Ha Wan Marine Park, while rock buffs can see land formations at the Hong Kong UNESCO Global Geopark. Visit its Volcano Discovery Centre to find the best way to explore the Geopark. Have a family fun day at Kadoorie Farm & Botanic Garden, a historic site that pioneers organic growing methods.

Pink Dolphins
Hong Kong's most famous wild animal is the endangered pink dolphin. Catch a glimpse on the Dolphin-watching Tour, which sails around their north Lantau Island habitat.
Remote Restaurants
Spend the day in the city’s quieter neighbourhoods and dine in a friendly seafood restaurant. Visit Aberdeen’s serene harbour and eat at Jumbo Floating Restaurant, a historic favourite that serves up ocean delights in palace-like surroundings. Looking for something a little less palatial? Ferry out to Lamma Island, where dozens of restaurants offer fish served alfresco against the island’s chilled-out atmosphere.

Park Life
Enjoy true serenity right in the middle of the bustle by visiting a city park. Spend the day roaming Causeway Bay’s Victoria Park: relax on the central lawn, or get sporty on the tennis courts. Culture awaits at Hong Kong Park – alongside fountains and ponds, you can visit the aviary, greenhouse and a tea museum. And relive history at Kowloon Park, a former army barracks with gardens and museums.

Heritage & Tradition

My Time for Discovery
Chinese and European, classic and modern — Hong Kong’s eventful history has brought about a melange of diverse cultures and traditions that is easily accessible to visitors. Whether you are interested in colonial history, Chinese heritage sites, modern architecture, traditional Chinese medicine or feng shui, you can easily experience Hong Kong’s rich and colourful heritage and traditions. This overview should help get you started.

Find more attractions in the Culture & Heritage section of DiscoverHongKong.com and cultural themes in the Hong Kong Insider’s Guide tablet app.

Heritage Journeys
Journey through time in Hong Kong’s numerous museums. Travel from the prehistoric period to the modern day with the Hong Kong Museum of History, and explore all the city has contributed at the Hong Kong Heritage Museum. Trace Hong Kong’s longstanding cinematic culture at the Hong Kong Film Archive. And kids will love the interactive and educational Hong Kong Space Museum and Hong Kong Science Museum.
History in the City
Trace Hong Kong’s East-West history across the city. Follow centuries-old heritage trails in the New Territories and take in the lavish Tai Fu Tai Mansion. Head over before midday to hear the Noon Day Gun, and observe British architecture at the Court of Final Appeal and the historic Clock Tower. Round up your journey at still-inhabited walled villages, built in centuries past as protection from bandits and pirates. Check out the Heritage Tour on DiscoverHongKong.com for a guided journey through the best sites.

Scraping the Skies
Hong Kong is a mecca of modern architecture and you only need look up to appreciate it. Marvel at the bamboo-like Bank of China Tower before crossing the street to rub the lion’s paw at the HSBC Main Building. Tell the time at towering Central Plaza, its neon rods changing colour every quarter hour. Finally, shoot up to the ICC, where you can admire stunning views from the sky100 Hong Kong Observation Deck.
Divine Sights
Explore the opulence of Hong Kong’s many Chinese temples. Visit Man Mo Temple, an altar to the gods of literature and war, right in bustling Sheung Wan. Bring your wishes to Wong Tai Sin Temple, which is said to grant any request. Feeling peckish? Pay your respects at Chi Lin Nunnery or Po Lin Monastery before stopping for a healthy bite at their veggie restaurants.

Monumental Achievements
Seek out Declared Monuments, protected vestiges of Hong Kong’s history scattered across the city. Meander through Hong Kong Island to see the neo-classical Court of Final Appeal and the photogenic Duddell Street Gas Lamps, before trailing along Kowloon to visit a 2000-year-old tomb as well as remnants of the notorious Kowloon Walled City. Visit ancient villages in the New Territories, and then ponder mysterious rock carvings on the outlying islands. Find more through the Antiques and Monuments Office website, www.amo.gov.hk.
Embracing Traditions
Embrace the city’s ancient and modern traditions. Gain insights into ancient health practices through Sheung Wan’s Chinese medicine shops, and learn about tea rituals at Flagstaff House Museum of Tea Ware. Visit places reputed to have good feng shui, and then check out the ‘petty person beating’. Finally, relax with a tai chi class. Or join one of the Living Culture Tours on DiscoverHongKong.com; you can try out tai chi, taste tea and see how feng shui works.

Colonial Treasures
Relive colonial glories. Stay the night at the revitalised Tai O Heritage Hotel, and shop at colonial buildings 1881 Heritage and PMQ. Have a drink at the historic Fringe Club, before taking a gamble on the horse races, every Wednesday at Happy Valley and on Saturdays in Sha Tin. And see colonial architecture on the Hong Kong Heritage Walk, including Government House. Details on DiscoverHongKong.com.

My Time for Inspiration
The Hong Kong arts scene is characterised by the city’s signature energy and diversity. From fine art galleries to live performances at incredible venues, and up-and-coming designer studios to the city’s everlasting cinema culture, a diverse assortment of artistic thrills await you. Whatever your artistic interest, it’s bound to be satisfied through Hong Kong’s many creative escapes.

Get loads of art information in the Arts & Performance section of DiscoverHongKong.com; find contemporary options in the Hong Kong Insider’s Guide tablet app.
Gallery Hop

Go gallery hopping and grab a piece of fine art. Whether your tastes run classic or modern, Eastern or Western, the city’s many gallery spaces exhibit works you’ll want to take home. Take a stroll down Hollywood Road and Wyndham Street for larger exhibition spaces, or climb the hills of SoHo to seek out smaller galleries showcasing quirkier works.

Thirty-One Days of Thrills

Get completely cultured and spend the month immersed in art. If you’re lucky enough to visit Hong Kong during March, you’ll be entranced by the annual Arts Month. Visit Art Basel at the exhibition centre, a renowned showcase where you’ll see the world’s finest galleries and artists. Or, take in a performance at the month-long Hong Kong Arts Festival, featuring opera, music, theatre and dance performances from the world’s top artists and stars of tomorrow.
Culture Quarters
See artists in action and do a bit of home-grown shopping at creative hub PMQ. Right in the middle of Central, PMQ is a revitalised colonial building converted into a space for creatives. Dine on locally sourced meals on the ground floor, shop at independent stores on its lower levels, and then snake your way up to peek into the studios of local artists and designers.

Inventive Areas
See artists in their natural habitats and visit lesser-known parts of the city. Walk the streets of Sheung Wan, where small studios and designer shops vie for attention.

Head out to the edge of Hong Kong Island, where Chai Wan is home to dozens of studios of up-and-coming artists. And make your way to Kowloon City, to the Cattle Depot Artist Village, an immense former slaughterhouse converted into sizeable spaces for artists.

Culture Spots
Visit the city’s diverse artistic venues, such as the all-encompassing Hong Kong Arts Centre and the equally wide-ranging Jockey Club Creative Arts Centre for rich displays of cutting-edge creativity. Watch live shows to catch local talent in action.

Hong Kong has dozens of acclaimed performing arts companies, each regularly showcasing their works all across town.

Go historic with Chinese opera at the Sunbeam Theatre, Ko Shan Theatre and New Wing, Yau Ma Tei Theatre or try a bit of modern dance at the Hong Kong Cultural Centre. Listen to world-class classical recitals at Hong Kong City Hall or catch some contemporary drama and perhaps a rock band at Fringe Club.
Cinema City

Immerse yourself in Hong Kong’s lasting cinematic culture. At the Film Archive, you can watch influential local films, before walking through detailed exhibits on the city’s cinematic legacy. See a revival screening at Broadway Cinematheque, an art-house cinema with an impressive film library. And during spring, immerse yourself in the latest showcases at the star-studded Hong Kong International Film Festival.

Comix Home Base

Did you know that Hong Kong is the world’s third largest comic market after Japan and the USA? Discover highly creative local comics and animation industries at Comix Home Base which is set in a cluster of restored pre-war houses in Wan Chai. See artists at work in their studios and enjoy exhibitions, workshops, screenings and special events.

Art History

Learn about Hong Kong’s artistic history at its many museums. Drop by a university for a look into the past: the University of Hong Kong’s art gallery has pieces dating to the Neolithic period, while the Chinese University’s art museum specialises in ancient China. Finally, discover works from the new generation, at the Visual Arts Centre’s student exhibition space.

Festival Fare

Whatever your artistic interest, there’s a festival catering to it. Music fan? Catch major international names at Clockenflap, a weekend-long, outdoor, music and arts festival that takes place in the winter. Prefer to dance? Shake your tail during February, at the weeklong Salsa Festival. And if you’re a Europhile, the summer brings both Le French May and Made in Italy, two month-long showcases of each country’s finest talents.

Festivals

My Time for Celebration

Spring, summer, autumn or winter — no matter which time of the year you're visiting, you're guaranteed to be enthralled by one of Hong Kong's many vibrant festivities: ancient Chinese cultural celebrations and international sporting events with the world's finest athletes; summer activities spread all across the city and a winter wonderland of Christmas spirit followed by New Year's fireworks. Follow this roundup of the top happenings and join in the fun.

Check out the Events & Festivals section and Events Calendar of DiscoverHongKong.com and catch festival coverage on the Discover Hong Kong Facebook page.

Chinese New Year

You're in for a treat if your visit falls over Chinese New Year, as the entire city gets taken over by a festive energy. Watch lion dances on busy streets, shop for auspicious foods at stores all decked out in red and pray for good fortune at incense-filled temples. It all leads up to a wonderful parade of floats and performances, before a stunning fireworks display across the harbour.
Arts Month

Get cultured and enjoy an array of different events during Arts Month. Catch a live performance during the Arts Festival, with international names flocking to the city to showcase their talents. Head down to the Hong Kong Convention and Exhibition Centre and see the renowned Art Basel, where the world’s greatest artists showcase their works. Or take part in the many other smaller events that make up the creative month.

Sporting Glory

Whatever the time of year, you’ll be able to see a slice of sporting glory. Spring sees the height of the season, kicking off with the Hong Kong Marathon followed by the thrilling Rugby Sevens. Here during summer or autumn? Catch the indoor Volleyball Open and Squash Open. And autumn is the ideal time to take part in the city’s historic Harbour Race.
Hong Kong Cultural Celebrations
Celebrate Hong Kong’s diverse culture and enjoy traditional festive activities during the city’s Cultural Celebrations. Springtime visitors are treated to four major local festivities in a row: see locals scrambling up a tower of buns at the Cheung Chau Bun Festival, or catch the many lion dances during Tin Hau’s birthday. Journey to the Big Buddha on the deity’s birthday, or pray for good fortune during Tam Kung’s celebration.

Dragon Boat Carnival
Watch athletes from around the world battle it out in an ancient Chinese sport and take part in the city-wide festivities during the summer’s Dragon Boat Carnival. Get caught up in the action as the world’s finest rowers clash against the backdrop of the skyline. And take a break from it all at BeerFest, where fans enjoy live performances and a tipple or two, and relax against the harbour.

Hong Kong Summer Fun
Beat the heat and join in with an array of exciting activities, with Hong Kong Summer Fun. From musicals to food festivals, major sporting events to computer expos, there’s something for every visitor.
Wine & Dine Month

Eat, drink and be merry at Hong Kong’s annual Wine & Dine Festival. A month-long culinary event set across the city, you can indulge in tasting events, wine tours, and other gastronomic delights. The highlight is the weekend outdoor fest: head down to the harbourfront, grab a glass of wine, snack on fine treats and take in the sights, sounds and flavours of the vibrant city.

Halloween

Throw on a costume and hit Hong Kong’s haunting streets as the city celebrates Halloween. For a classical local approach to the festival, visit one of the city’s theme parks, where you’ll find Chinese ghost-story attractions. Or, head down to a bar district such as Lan Kwai Fong, and join thousands of costumed fans as they find the lighter side to the dark night.

WinterFest

Celebrate Christmas in style and experience New Year’s like never before during Hong Kong WinterFest. Take in the yuletide spirit with festive foods, seasonal celebrations and other delights. And when New Year’s Eve rolls around, you can count down the seconds with the crowds at Times Square, before an unprecedented fireworks display lights up the harbour.

Mid-Autumn Festival

Mid-Autumn is one of the city’s brightest festivals, and you won’t be able to resist its thrilling charms. See creative lanterns floating around Victoria Park, catch Tai Hang’s epic Fire Dragon Dance, and indulge in a mooncake or two.

Hungry Ghost festival

Don’t be scared off by the name: the annual summertime Hungry Ghost Festival is one of Hong Kong’s most fascinating, and all across the city you’ll see the spiritually-minded offering sacrifices and placating transient ghosts.
Hong Kong After Dark

My Time for Immersion
If you’re a night owl, Hong Kong is your ideal escape — a city that never sleeps, with dozens of things to do once the sun goes down. You can roam the historic markets for a bargain or shop in upscale stores open late. You can have a drink or two at a quiet bar or party the night away in a vibrant club. Or, just take in the city’s sights and sounds through an after-dark harbour cruise or a hike across the countryside, before camping on a beach. The night-time options are endless, and here are a few highlights.

Keep an eye on “What’s Hot” at DiscoverHongKong.com and download the Hong Kong Insider’s Guide tablet app for nightlife options.

Night Markets
Even if you’re an early bird, there’s one late-night Hong Kong activity you absolutely can’t miss: the night markets. Dig around Temple Street’s dusty stalls to discover buried antique treasures and retro products. Or, make your way over to Ladies’ Market, where you’ll find an all-over selection of souvenirs, from tourist t-shirts to discount electronics. It’s an after-dark must-do.
Keep the Party Going
Get the most out of Hong Kong’s bars and party till the sun comes up. Staying on Hong Kong Island? Start off in Lan Kwai Fong, the city’s nightlife epicentre, and then make your way to Wan Chai, where the bars are always open. Over in Kowloon? Kick things off on Knutsford Terrace, and then journey over to Mong Kok when things quiet down, a local favourite for late-night drinking.

Late-Night Bites
Satisfy your late-night hunger and dine on a variety of international cuisines at the many open-late restaurants. If you’re on Hong Kong Island, Causeway Bay is packed with tucked-away restaurants serving up after-dark delicacies. In Kowloon, roam Tsim Sha Tsui’s streets, a cavernous maze of post-midnight meals. Chinese hotpot, as well as Japanese and Korean, are particularly popular cuisines for late-night dining.

Night Clubbing
Rub shoulders with Hong Kong’s most desirable and party the night away in a bustling club. Catch world-renowned DJs spinning tracks while you sip cocktails in your own private booth. Visit Central for an upscale clubbing experience, or get more raucous in the clubs of Wan Chai. If it’s more of a local experience you’re after, Mong Kok’s clubs are some of the city’s most popular.
Evening Cruise

Ride a classic ferry and see the whole Hong Kong skyline at once. The Star Ferry is a must-do on any Hong Kong itinerary, so make a special evening out of it and join a Victoria Harbour Cruise. You’ll step aboard an old-fashioned ferry complete with outdoor viewing deck, before being sailed around Victoria Harbour. Time it right and make sure you board the Symphony of Lights cruise for the best view of the spectacular light show.

Hike Under the Stars

Keep in shape and camp out among the stars. Looking for a late-night run? The Bowen Road Fitness Trail will keep you healthy while offering incredible city views. If you’re an intermediate-level hiker, the Peak to Pok Fu Lam trail will lead you out of the city and into the forests. And for a real challenge, attempt Lantau Island’s Sunset Peak before spending the night at a beach-side campsite.
After Hours Shopping
Hit the after-hours streets and bag late-night bargains. Hong Kong’s stores are famously open late and you can shop at its busiest districts well into the wee hours. Walk the streets of Central and Causeway Bay, with most malls and stores open till 11 pm. Then hop across the harbour, before wandering around Mong Kok, where you can shop till you literally drop, with stores open as late as 2am.

Twilight Culture
Enjoy live shows and watch cinema screenings after dark. Catch a classical performance at the Hong Kong Cultural Centre or Hong Kong City Hall, with weekend shows starting from 9 pm. Rock out with local bands at Fringe Club, where gigs kick off at 10 pm. Or, escape to the dark of the cinema — you can watch midnight shows at most multiplexes, while New Territories theatres have screenings from 1 am on.

ITINERARY FOR FIRST TIME VISITORS

First time in Hong Kong? See the best of the city with the suggested itinerary below.

day 1

AM - Arrival

Evening - Enjoy Chinese or Western cuisine in Tsim Sha Tsui. Later, stroll along the Tsim Sha Tsui Promenade to enjoy the harbour skyline.

Or visit the sky100 Hong Kong Observation Deck — the highest indoor observation deck in town offering a 360-degree view of Victoria Harbour.

day 2

AM - Head to Hong Kong Island and visit The Peak, where Sky Terrace 428 and the Peak Circle Walk offer a panoramic view of Hong Kong, Aberdeen Fishing Village and Stanley Market.

PM - Enjoy lunch at a seafront restaurant in Stanley and spend an afternoon at the nearby beach. Then, take the ‘Hong Kong tram’orantic Tour’ 1920s-style open-top tram to discover Hong Kong stories past and present.

Evening - Hop aboard a tour boat for breathtaking vistas of the Hong Kong skyline and the ‘A Symphony of Lights’ show that colourfully lights up prominent buildings at night.

day 3

AM - New Territories Tour (half day)

Take a tour to the New Territories, a vast area with peaceful century-old villages, ancient temples and untouched fields.

PM - Enjoy a dim sum lunch at a Chinese restaurant followed by shopping.

Evening - Take the open-top bus tour through the neon-lit streets of Kowloon’s main thoroughfare and admire the glitter and shine of Nathan Road. After that, go shopping at Temple Street Night Market or Ladies Market.

day 4

Full Day - Join the New Lantau Island Tour to enjoy a scenic ferry ride to Lantau Island and then visit some popular attractions such as the Big Buddha and Po Lin Monastery. Lastly, enjoy a variety of shopping and dining options at the themed Ngong Ping Village.

Evening - Night out in Lan Kwai Fong

day 5
