The whole of Hong Kong will be celebrating this traditional holiday with mooncakes, glowing lanterns and fire-breathing dragons: it’s time to join in the delightful Mid-Autumn Festival! Drop by any of these to experience the city’s centuries-old traditions in action.

Tai Hang Fire Dragon Dance

It takes nearly 300 performers and over 70,000 incense sticks to recreate the ancient three-day dance with the 67-metre long Fire Dragon. Today this commemorative performance still wends its way in fire, smoke and festive fury through the backstreets of Tai Hang and into the Urban Mid-Autumn Lantern Carnival in Victoria Park.
